

Bharathi Manogaran is a seasoned social worker with more than 20 years of clinical practice. Graduating from the National University of Singapore in 2001, she went on to pursue her Master's at the University of Queensland with distinction, also earning a Dean's commendation. Adept in spearheading and managing programmes, Bharathi is passionate about providing visionary leadership to teams to hone professional development and drive social service practice to the next level. Presently, she holds the role of Deputy Executive Director at AWARE.